A Policy Tells Employees the Rules.

Training Helps Them Make the Right Decision.

Every day, employees face situations that can impact people, your business and your reputation. A Code cannot cover every situation - but the right training can help hem recognize risk, think clearly and do the right thing.

A supplier sends an expensive gift during a tender. Accept or decline?

A close relative applies for a role in your team. What should you disclose?

Can confidential information be entered into a public AI tool?

You notice something concerning at work should you speak up?

One Code.
Real Workplace Decisions.

SucceedLEARN's Code Of Conduct training covers the key areas that matter to every employee. and can be tailored to your organization's policies, industry and risk environment.

Workplace Ethics & Behaviour
